WE PRESENT HEREWITH OUR TRADE CATALOGUE FOR 1938

Since assuming the property and business at Flowerfield, formerly of John Lewis Childs, Inc., we have made great progress toward our goal.

A COMPLETELY MODERN BULB FARM

During the past summer we have installed a 60 acre irrigation system, and up to date fumigation and sterilizing equipment. We have added extensively to our stocks of bulbs and plants, and in the future will have available to our customers the best of the newer varieties in the various lines.

We give most careful attention, in growing our stocks, to insuring prime quality, and we take every precaution to keep our stocks pure and true to name.

IRIS KAEMPFERI

(JAPANESE IRIS)

Native to Siberia and Japan. Introduced by Von Siebold in 1857.

Iris Kaempferi are by far the most beautiful of all the irises. In form, texture and coloring they are orchard-like with the orchard's exotic loveliness.

Few garden subjects are as easily grown or adaptable to such a wide range of climatic and soil conditions as are these irises. They thrive from Canada to Mexico, and on soils that range from sand to peat. During the growing season they flourish in a foot of water or on a dry hillside.

We are the leading growers of IRIS KAEMPFERI and have here at Flowerfield the world's largest planting, and the greatest collection of varieties of these beautiful flowers.

NEW ORIGINATIONS

We are proud to have originated and introduced the following two outstanding varieties!
